ART DECO SALON

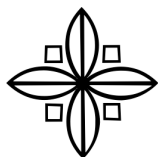

Art Deco

The wall- and ceiling paintings in the Grand Café Central in Gouda were made in the period June-August 1924.

They were painted by painter and decorator Pieter den Besten from Rotterdam. He also decorated the walls of steamer “New Amsterdam” and the Tuschinsky theater in Amsterdam in 1918. In Amsterdam only some fragments of the paintings in the Tuschinsky theater are left.

Originally in Grand Café Central there were 16 female figures, of which 3 were lost during interior changes. With the geometric composition in bright colored, flat figures, the wall paintings make an important connection between the Art-Nouveau movement and the modern paintings of Mondriaan and the “De Stijl”.

The paintings in Grand Café Central are the biggest Art Déco ensemble left in the Netherlands. The stained glass windows date from 1939.
